

SYLLABUS
MATH 110B, CALCULUS II
CITY COLLEGE OF SAN FRANCISCO
SPRING SEMESTER 2012, INSTRUCTOR: DANNY VO

<http://fog.ccsf.edu/dvo>

Text Book:

Calculus Early Transcendentals , James Stewart, 6th edition. (With WebAssign online homework package)

Homework Policy:

NO LATE HOMEWORK WILL BE ACCEPTED! Homework will be assigned at the end of every class session. Please keep in mind, however, that unannounced quizzes may be given at any time, and the problems in the quiz will be very similar to those assigned in the homework. Also, the reading assignments are part of the homework and are critical to understanding the material.

Attendance policy:

I will take attendance everyday and a quiz may be given any time, especially if I notice that there are too few people attending class. If you need to take personal leave, please notify me in advance, and you will be allowed to take a make-up quiz or an exam. Remember it will be your responsibility to review the material covered in the class period which you will miss. Excuses for absence which are not given in advance are not accepted.

Grading policy:

Homework	20%
Quizzes and attendance	5 %
Comprehensive Midterm Exam(s)	50%
Comprehensive Final Exam (required)	25%
Total course grade:	100%

Cheating policy:

If you are caught cheating on a quiz or exam, you will receive an F on the quiz or exam, and depending on the degree of severity, the worst case is that you may receive an F for the entire course grade. Working together on the homework (not copying!) is, however, not considered cheating.

Dropping Policy:

Even though I don't expect anyone to drop the class, should you need to drop, it is your responsibility to understand the CCSF's dropping policy – this policy is posted in the current schedule booklet. The student is responsible for making arrangements to drop the class. If you stop attending class without making drop arrangements, you will not be dropped automatically, and you will receive an F for the class.
